Martin Zwyszig to be new CFO of the BKW Group

Change to the Group Executive Board of BKW AG

Bern, 3 April 2023

The BKW Board of Directors has appointed Martin Zwyszig as the new CFO of the BKW Group and a member of the Group Executive Board. A proven financial expert, he comes to BKW with extensive experience as a CFO in listed Swiss industrial companies. Since 2020, Martin Zwyszig has been Group CFO of Rehau, a leading international company for polymer-based solutions in the construction, automotive and industrial sectors. Martin Zwyszig will take up his new position at BKW on 1 July 2023. He is replacing Ronald Trächsel, who is leaving BKW at the end of June.

Martin Zwyszig (58) can look back on a long and successful career in leading Swiss industrial companies. During this time, the qualified financial specialist and authority on the Swiss and international industrial sector has successfully led numerous transformation projects and increased Switzerland's competitive position as an industrial and business location. In 2018, the doctor of economics was named "CFO of the Year" by CFO Forum Schweiz.

Robert Itschner, CEO of BKW: “We are glad to have secured Martin Zwyszig, a very experienced figure, and are happy that we will be able to continue the BKW success story with him on board.”

“BKW is a strong, forward-looking company with a clear orientation. I am very much looking forward to my new role and to working with my future team and the Group Executive Board,” says Martin Zwyszig.

Martin Zwyszig will take over directly from Ronald Trächsel. “With his comprehensive expertise, Ronald Trächsel made a significant contribution to the BKW success story,” says Roger Baillod, Chair of the BKW Board of Directors. “The Board of Directors and the Group Executive Board wish him all the best on his future path.”

The 58-year-old Martin Zwyszig is married and completed his studies at the University of St. Gallen as Dr. oec. HSG.
